Special Dedication~This is dedicated to all of my Hero's & Shero's that I have been blessed enough to have you at some point and time enter into my life and blessed me with your presence, your love, your acceptance, your warm and pleasing smile followed by the comfort of your touch. And to all of my many mentors, thank you so much for being, doing and having such great examples for me to follow...Of course first and foremost with great thanks, gratitude and appreciation goes to the divine creator of the universe, of the sun, moon and stars as we know it to be today and forever more, of all that's in the heavens above and all that in the earth below. To the creator of man himself and knower of all that man knows and does not know. By whatever name you may call Him or Her ;o) I give thanks and praise...
